With a global network of thousands of medical, scientific, and legal experts, PHR uses the power of medical and scientific evidence to document violations of human rights and humanitarian law, prevent abuses, protect survivors, and promote justice and universal human rights for all.

Building upon its highly respected place in the field, and supported by a committed and talented team, PHR seeks a Development Operations Manager.

Work Authorization: Applicants must be authorized to work in the United States.

Location: Headquarters, New York, NY.

Reports to: Deputy Director of Development

Supervises: Operations Coordinator

Organizational Overview

Physicians for Human Rights was founded in 1986 by five physicians who were united in the belief that health professionals, with their specialized skills, ethical duties, and credible voices, are uniquely positioned to prevent harm and promote respect for human rights. Since its founding, PHR has built a long and distinguished record of accomplishment by conducting groundbreaking investigations and advocacy, in concert with strategic partners.

PHR’s approach includes extensive documentation of the use of illegal and inhumane weapons in armed conflicts, attacks on civilians, and the physical and psychological impacts of torture and sexual violence as a weapon of war. Other core activities include protecting the rights of those seeking asylum in the United States, the human rights implications of the COVID-19 pandemic, and halting attacks on medical facilities and frontline health professionals.

Role Description

PHR is seeking a committed Development Operations Manager with experience supporting fundraising operations in a nonprofit environment. Experience working in human rights, health, humanitarian, advocacy, or international nonprofit organizations is preferred.

The Development Operations Manager leads the systems, data, and operational processes that support PHR's fundraising program. The position serves as a strategic partner to development leadership by maintaining data integrity, improving development operational workflows, and providing insights into donor engagement, giving trends, and fundraising outcomes. The role will also work closely with the Finance team to ensure proper reconciliation of all revenue and cash flows.

A successful candidate will have a proven track record in donor and database operations, working with data and ensuring its cleanliness, usability, and compliance with organizational and legal standards. They will have a strong attention to detail and understand the importance of data to drive strategy.
