IT manager

National average salary: $91,636 per year

Primary duties: IT managers plan and coordinate the functions of a business's information technology sector. They oversee technical teams and seek different methods for improving IT systems. Demand for IT managers is increasing because companies want to ensure their information systems are operating efficiently and that IT teams have experienced leaders.