Web designer (UI/UX)

National average salary: $56,866 per year

Primary duties: Web designers focus on the visual aspect of website creation. They work to improve both the specific assets users interact with, called the user interface (UI), and the overall interaction users have with a webpage, or user experience (UX). They're in demand because all companies with websites seek to optimize their visitors' experience with their pages.