Brand Communications Senior Manager, RYZE
Banglalink

About the job

Job Description

At our company, we hold an uncompromising stance against mediocrity, committing ourselves to work that delivers audacious impact and is fueled by a pioneering spirit of continuous progress and innovation. This ambition is supported by leadership grounded in courage and clarity—ensuring alignment, accountability, and purpose in everything we do. Integrity shapes how we hire, recognize, and develop talent, with a focus on potential, ambition, and long term growth. Together, we operate with collective strength, prioritizing meaningful results over unnecessary rituals and navigating challenges with unity and resolve. Above all, we remain steadfast and resilient, never losing sight of our commitments and continuously pushing forward through complexity with determination and purpose to create a better life for all.

- Define, own, and continuously refine RYZE's brand strategy, positioning, value proposition, personality, and communication architecture in line with business priorities and youth market dynamics. Ensure RYZE remains differentiated, culturally relevant, and consistent across all touchpoints.
- Lead the development and execution of integrated brand campaigns across ATL, digital-first, experiential, and influencer-led platforms. Translate insights and product priorities into compelling narratives, oversee creative development, ensure brand consistency, and evaluate campaign effectiveness beyond short-term performance metrics.
- Drive a digital-first creative agenda by leveraging emerging content trends, platform dynamics, and evolving consumer behaviors to create impactful, platform-native communications.
- Leverage consumer insights, youth culture trends, social listening, and brand health tracking to guide brand strategy and communication refinement. Identify emerging risks and opportunities affecting brand perception and relevance.
- Inspire, develop, and manage partners (creative, research, media buying, social listening agencies). Ensure clarity of expectations, accountability, and continuous improvement in output quality.
- Drive cross-functional collaboration with Commercial, Finance, Customer Experience, Sales, Regulatory, Legal, Compliance and other teams to translate business priorities into impactful brand experiences and market-facing initiatives.
- Oversee the planning, execution, and performance optimization of major ATL, BTL, digital, experiential, and partnership-led campaigns, ensuring timely delivery, operational excellence, and measurable business impact.

- Overview brand investment planning and budget governance, ensuring optimal allocation of resources, strong return on marketing investments, cost efficiency, and delivery of business objectives within approved budgets.

Academic Qualification

- Bachelor degree in any field

Job Experience Required

- 7 to 10 years of relevant experience in managing brands, media, events, engagement

Required Capabilities

- Advanced knowledge of brand strategy and brand management, including positioning, brand architecture, value proposition development, and long-term brand equity building within a competitive telco and digital ecosystem.
- Sound understanding of youth consumer behavior, lifestyle-driven decision-making, and cultural dynamics, particularly within digital-first and mobile-native segments relevant to RYZE.
- Advanced knowledge in developing integrated brand communication strategies, translating business objectives, product propositions, and insights into clear messaging, storytelling frameworks, and campaign narratives across ATL, digital, experiential, and influencer-led platforms.
- Sound understanding of brand performance and effectiveness measurement, including brand health tracking, awareness, consideration, preference, relevance, and sentiment analysis, and the ability to interpret these metrics to guide strategic decisions.
- Advanced awareness of contemporary branding trends and best practices, including content-led branding, creator and community ecosystems, cultural marketing, and the role of brand in supporting performance and growth objectives—while safeguarding long-term brand equity.