Part-Time SEO Specialist
New Jersey, United States

About the job

About Us

Built For Service (builtforservice.com) helps small, local service-based businesses grow by getting them found and chosen online. Most hardworking business owners are great at their trade but don't have the time, tools, or know-how to compete on the internet — so they lose customers to bigger competitors who simply show up first. We level that playing field. We give these businesses a professional online presence that builds trust, brings in real leads, and turns searches into paying customers, all without the confusion or the big-agency price tag. Based in New Jersey and serving businesses there and beyond, our win is simple: when a local business thrives because more of the right people can finally find them, we've done our job. Please on the screening questions, answer the questions or if LinkedIn does not let you, please message me with your answers.

Now we're focused on doing for our own website what we do for everyone else — and that's where you come in.

The Role

We're looking for a part-time SEO Specialist to improve the search performance of our own site and help more of the right people find our business online. This is a part-time, ongoing role — a great fit for an experienced SEO who wants steady work on a single site without a full-time commitment.

Fully remote — work from anywhere.

What you'll do:

- Own the SEO strategy and execution for our website (built on WordPress)
- Improve our local and regional search visibility across New Jersey and beyond
- Optimize and maintain our Google Business Profile
- Research the keywords our potential customers are actually searching, and map them to our pages and services
- Handle on-page optimization (titles, meta descriptions, headers, internal linking, schema)
- Run technical SEO audits and fix or flag issues (site speed, mobile, crawlability)
- Optimize existing pages and recommend new content to target valuable search terms
- Track rankings, traffic, and leads, and report on what's working month to month

What we're looking for:

- Proven SEO experience with real, demonstrable results (please share examples or case studies)
- Strong grasp of local SEO and Google Business Profile optimization
- Comfort working in WordPress

- Hands-on experience with Google Search Console, Google Analytics, and an SEO tool (Ahrefs, SEMrush, or similar)
- Solid understanding of on-page and technical SEO
- Self-directed and reliable — able to make steady progress with minimal oversight
- Clear communicator who can explain results in plain terms

Nice to have:

- Experience ranking local service-based businesses
- Content writing / editing for SEO
- Basic understanding of how web design and site structure affect SEO
- Familiarity with ClickUp
- A true self-starter who takes initiative and runs with it
- Works well as part of a team
- Willing to speak up with feedback on what we should focus on — and what we shouldn't
- Strong communicator who's comfortable on video calls

Details:

- Fully remote
- To apply, send your resume, a short note on how you'd approach improving a site like ours, and any results or case studies you can share.
