Sales Lead

Singapore

Position Overview:

We are seeking a strategic sales lead and market builder to scale our Southeast Asia (SEA) business by driving high-value engagements across Generative AI, Data, Cloud Modernisation, and Digital Engineering. This role will be responsible for acquiring new logos, accelerating account growth, and building a robust pipeline by effectively positioning and selling our services and AI-led solutions in alignment with our broader business objectives.

What you'll do:

● Lead the end-to-end sales cycle from initial client engagement through deal closure, acting as a trusted consultant by understanding client needs and proposing innovative, value-driven solutions.

● Drive sales targets by acquiring new logos and nurturing customer relationships into high-value engagements

● Build and manage a robust sales pipeline through proactive prospecting, networking, and partner-led opportunities.

● Lead consultative selling of digital technology services, including web and mobile engineering, cloud modernisation, AI solutions and UX-led product development.

● Position TO THE NEW as a trusted AI and digital engineering partner in the SEA market

● Leverage and co-sell with strategic partners (e.g. hyperscalers, platform providers, etc) to drive pipeline generation and accelerate deal closures

● Collaborate with the marketing team to plan and execute lead generation campaigns that create new business opportunities.

● Work closely with pre-sales, solution architects, and delivery teams to craft winning proposals.

● Maintain accurate sales forecasts and pipeline reporting through CRM tools.

Why Join Us

● We are entering a high-growth phase aimed at driving 2X scale while reimagining our business through AI-led disruption. This role offers a unique opportunity to create an outsized impact to build and scale the regional market, forge deep client partnerships, and drive adoption of our next-generation AI, data, and digital solutions.

● High-visibility role with direct influence on global growth priorities and leadership decision-making

● Entrepreneurial environment that empowers ownership, backed by strong leadership and a clear AI-led vision

Experience & Qualifications:

● 10-14 years of experience in selling technology offerings in the SEA market

● Possess a strong track record in acquiring new customer logos in the target geographies
● Passion for hunting and closing big-ticket deals
● Ability to build strong relationships with decision-makers and influencers in the client organisations and articulate complex technology solutions
● Ability to build strong relationships with decision-makers and influencers in the client organisations
● Deep understanding of digital transformation, AI, cloud, data, and experience services
● Ability to keep himself/herself abreast of the latest technology and business trends
