UK-Based Consulting Experts

Mercor is recruiting UK-based Management Consulting Experts for a research project with a leading foundational model AI lab.

Ideal candidates have worked in roles such as:

- Consultant / Senior Consultant
- Engagement Manager / Project Leader
- Principal / Associate Partner
- Partner / Managing Director

We're especially interested in candidates from McKinsey, BCG, and Bain, though strong strategy consulting experience from similar firms is also welcome.

You'll help create, review, and simulate realistic consulting engagement scenarios, including problem structuring, hypothesis development, case analysis, client presentations, executive communication, and strategic recommendations.

Strong candidates understand how modern consulting engagements operate, including Partner-led structures with Engagement Managers, Consultants, and Analysts across strategy, due diligence, and transformation.

Here are more details about the role:

- You will be contributing to high-quality training data for frontier AI systems
- The work is fully remote and project-based
- You are available to work 40 hours/week
- Successful contributions increase the odds that you are selected on future projects with Mercor

The vetting process involves:

- Resume + work history screen
- Short assessment evaluating consulting expertise
